Capital Area United Way
Women’s Leadership Council

- May 2012-2013 -

Mission

To mobilize the power of women to advance the Common Good in our tri-county area.

Objective: Members united by concern to raise awareness, financial support and volunteerism to address the lack of academic achievement in middle school girls.

Goal: Increase reading and writing levels of participating middle school girls by implementing the in2books program.

The Capital Area Women’s Leadership Council encourages, educates and energizes women to make a difference in our community through philanthropy.

Capital Area United Way invites you to get involved and help make a difference in young lives in the tri-county area.

The WLC invites you to join us in positively impacting young girls’ lives and improving their educational development and success. The WLC brings a unique group of women together who recognize educational development as a pressing need in our community and want to make a difference. These investments will help ensure that every middle-school aged girl can achieve success.

WLC is partnering with in2books, a curriculum-based, eMentoring reading program. in2books combines adult mentors, a motivating curriculum, and technology to help students develop strong reading, thinking and writing skills.

Research shows that in2books eMentors positively influence academic achievement and students’ motivation to learn.
